Newspaperman Randolph Hearst, Jr., must consider the horrors of the drastic re-allegiance of his kidnapped daughter, Patricia, to the Symbionese Liberation Army, if it is true.

The California publisher, and heir to his father's publishing dynasty of two generations, finds it difficult if not impossible to believe his 20-year-old daughter would join SLA, originally her political captors.

About $4 million in food awaits the SLA if Patricia is released unharmed by May 3, according to new reports.

That is in addition to $2 million already distributed.

The Hearsts are caught in a ransom plot with the worst possible Hollywood ending: the ransomee doesn't want to return.

Patricia is liberal, but not revolutionary, her parents tell the press. Yet, they must wonder how persuasive her captors are or how little she understood the system whose largess made her the bait for this political ploy.

This is nothing but an old-fashioned shakedown with the exception of Miss Hearst finding justification, if her taped words are voluntary, for agreeing with the means to reach her father.

If this is true, she no longer believes in democracy or representative government, anything remotely voluntary, but in whatever group overt conversion will "divide and conquer", to borrow a phrase.

The Hearsts probably hold to the idea she is being coerced or even drugged to make these statements. But the voice, identified as Patricia's, comes through clear on the tapes.

The implications of this SLA blackmail, apparently successful, substantiate what observers are saying about splinter groups through the Western World. They say more of this revolutionary type of incursion, either peaceful or violent, will occur. Anything from commando raids to this ransom technic is possible.

None of this helps Randolph Hearst or his daughter caught in the machinations of a political juvenile age. At 20, she is looking for answers and finding her life and the previous generation's at least subject to review.

Hearst of course is pouring the means of a publishing empire into a food program to get his daughter back. And that empire is not nearly what it was at its zenith under Randolph, Sr.

These are terrorists, the SLA, of a new kind. And it will require new responses to public need, before the fact, to avoid reoccurrence of this ransoming or further breakdown in confidence in elective government.

For Randolph Hearst, Jr., if all this is true, it must be a time for profound analysis to see how his own daughter might consider political blackmail a viable means to a life superior to her own.

Rockdale Elects New Mayor, Two Councilmen

Rockdale has a new mayor and two new councilmen following results of the city election held there Saturday. Rogers and Rosebud also held city elections Saturday.

More than 1,000 persons turned out to vote in the hotly contested election at Rockdale. Total turnout was 1,038. Darrel Walker, who received 621 votes, upset incumbent Mayor H. M. Luckey, who had 436 votes, in the mayor's race.

For the east ward council seat, R. C. (Red) Richards, with 630 votes, defeated incumbent E. E. (Buck) Henry, who had 419 votes.

The new councilman for the west ward is Collier Perry, who received 559 votes. Edwin C. Remaley had 473 votes in losing his bid for reelection. At Rogers, two incumbents were returned to office as three city councilmen were elected.

The winners were Dean Gommert, 94 votes, and Billy Ray Crow, 92, both incumbents, and Elmer Don Williams, 72.

Other candidates were Lupe Munoz, 33; Johnny Klecka, 27; and Bill Reid, 23.

The voter turnout was 124, compared to 128 the previous year.

Dennis Kasner, J. C. Green, Jr., and John Sampson were elected out of a field of five candidates to the Rosebud City Council Saturday.

Kasner polled 92 votes; Green, 74 votes; and Sampson, 72 votes.

The other two candidates, John Schigut and Carl Jones, polled 63 votes and 11 votes respectively. Jones had withdrawn from the race before election time but his name was still on the ballot.

County Puzzles Pigeon Problem

County commissioners are studying a nuisance problem which is emphasized as the courthouse exterior is cleaned, but can't figure what to do about it.

The problem is increasing numbers of pigeons that use the courthouse ledges and cornices as daytime perches, soiling the white building stone.

The problem was discussed at a regular meeting Monday morning but no permanent solution was offered. Some of the birds have been caught in traps, but there are larger numbers "living" on the courthouse now.

In other business commissioners refused a request by Emmett Trant Associates to use the name of a BFW Construction Co. subsidiary for the county jail construction contract, County Judge O. B. Harden said he told the Bryan firm this could not be done, and commissioners agreed.

Judge Harden told commissioners he had contacted the Santa Fe Railway office at Amarillo to see about getting the railroad spur track removed from Lamar Street next to the jail site. He said a Santa Fe official in Temple will work with the county in removing the tracks.

The judge reminded commissioners that the Heart O' Texas Council of Governments is offering its Neighborhood Youth Corps and Mainstream programs to the county for this summer. The program uses underprivileged persons under 22 or over 45 years of age, with certain qualifications.

Job training is offered for non-profit organizations in the programs, such as for the county, city, or schools. The county has used the NYC program in past summers.

The program's definition of a disadvantaged individual, for manpower program purposes, is a poor person who does not have suitable employment and who is either a school dropout, a member of a minority, under 22 years of age or 45 years of age or over, or handicapped.

The personal property evaluation list for 1974 was approved by unanimous vote. It was offered by the county tax office.

Permission was given to Commissioner LaVert McKinney of Pct. 2 to sell a low-boy trailer to the city for $499; and to Commissioner Adolph Gresak of Pct. 1 to sell a number of old tires.

County Auditor John Andres gave a report on the sale and disposition of commodity warehouse equipment and furniture, and some typewriters for county offices which were replaced with new ones.

Hearne Upheaval Continues

Political upheaval continues in Hearne with the latest action being the firing of the city manager and the resignation of the mayor at a city council meeting Monday night.

Voting to fire City Manager E. C. Suggs was one of the council's last official actions before swearing in a new council member.

Outgoing Councilman Grady Griffin made the motion to fire. Councilman Julian Kwasnica seconded the motion. Councilman Luke Roffino voted in favor of the firing. Only Councilman Tommy Mayfield was opposed. The motion carried with a vote of 3 to 1. Councilman John H. Miles Jr. was not present at the meeting.

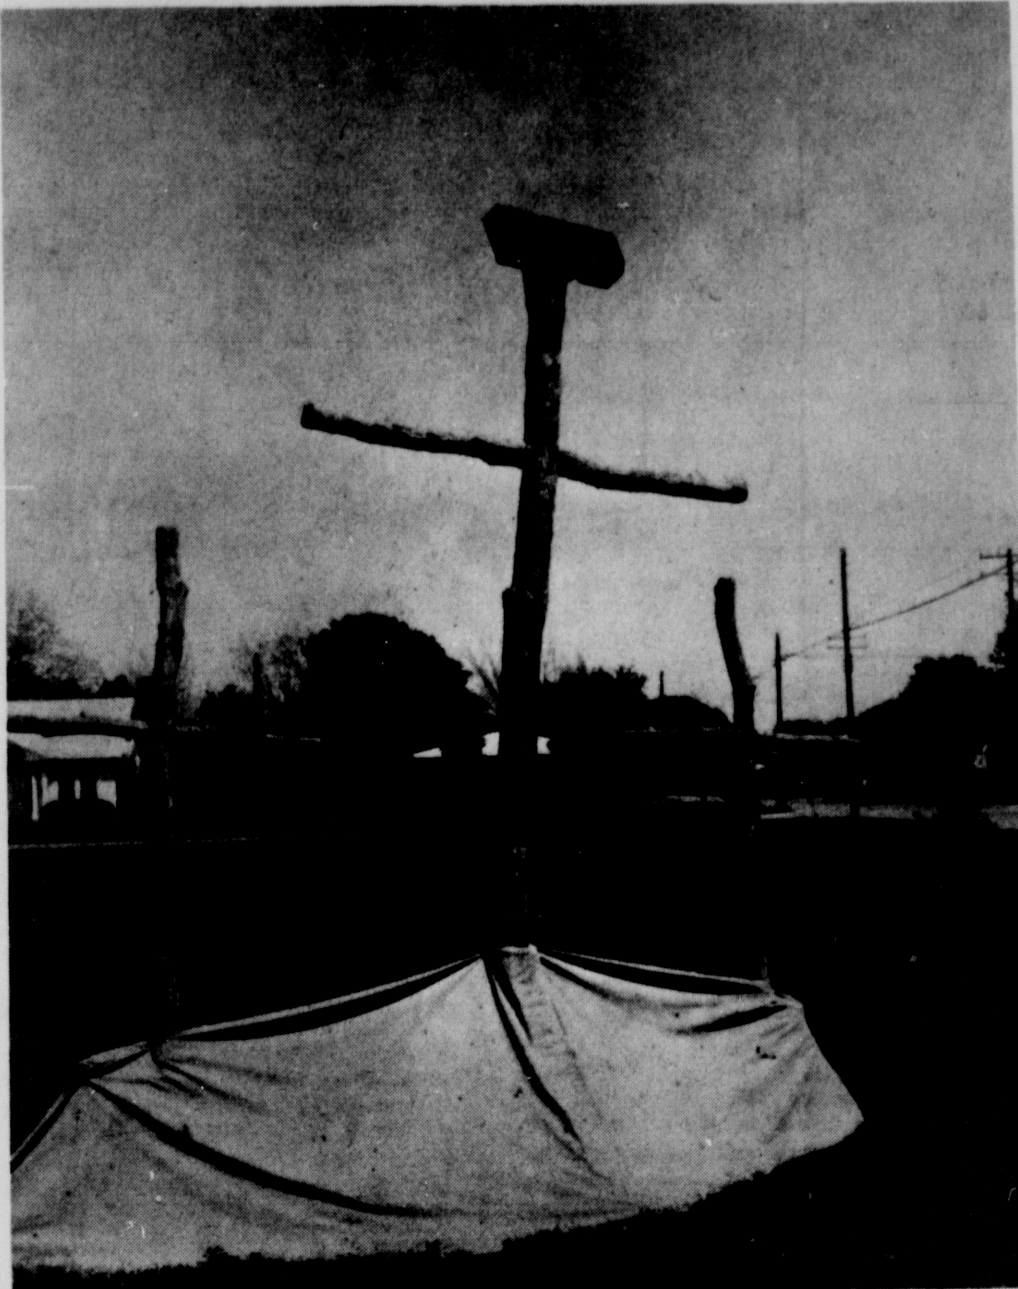

After the motion carried, Mayor Jake Abrams announced he was resigning as mayor of Hearne, leaving a year of his term unexpired. Abrams swore in newly-elected Councilman Harold Hill, who defeated Griffin for a place on the board in the April 2 city election.

Abrams appointed Hill mayor pro tem, thanked the people for seven years of support and walked out of the council chamber.

Hill conducted the rest of the routine business. The council will meet in executive session to elect a permanent mayor pro tem and also to try to find another city manager.

Last week, Suggs fired the city bookkeeper, Mrs. Mae Beth Bishop, whose actions in telling a Houston television station about a check issued three years ago for $12,000 in Hearne city funds to a non-existent engineering firm led to grand jury investigation and indictments against the mayor and four city councilmen.

EASTER WEEK - Three rough hewn pine crosses at the Abiding Savior Lutheran Church lawn, Cameron, dramatically remind passers-by of the message of Easter.

City Approved For Subsidized Flood Insurance

Cameron has been approved for subsidized flood insurance beginning April 12, it was announced by Sen. Lloyd Bentsen's Washington office Monday.

All structures used for residences, business, religious, or agricultural purposes, or occupied by non-profit organizations, or owned by state or local governments are eligible for flood insurance coverage.

Cameron became qualified under this program when it agreed to adopt land use and control measures that will minimize flood damage to future construction.

Local insurance agents may obtain policies and other information from the National Flood Insurers Association servicing office, which is the home insurance company, at 2100 Travis Street, Houston 77002.

Trustees Vote Cobb To Head Board

Calvin Cobb was reelected to head the local school board and Mrs. Betsy Brown will again be vice president following action by the board at a regular meeting Monday night. Bill Hornung was reelected secretary.

Board members voted to pay traveling expenses for Mrs. Patsy Nance to Indiana and Fred Johns to Boston this spring. Mrs. Nance will accompany David Hollas and Gary Fuchs to the international science fair at Notre Dame and Johns will accompany David to Boston to a science symposium. Board also voted to give both teachers a $50 raise in salary.

Supt. D. R. Dodson reported that the fire escape for Ada Henderson School will be installed during the Easter holidays. The fire escape was purchased some time ago and has been waiting installation.

Trustees voted to have a new restroom for the athletic field constructed along with a lean-to on the building for storing mowers, tools and other equipment. Cost will be about $6,000 for the building only, with fixtures extra.

The committee to study vocational training for the schools reported that a survey will be held at the high school to explore interest in the training, and members will meet with Temple Junior College officials to discuss

School Board Elections Held For Area

A total of only 47 votes was cast in Saturday's Cameron school board election, with most area incumbents being re-elected in several elections.

In Cameron, Mrs. Betsy Brown received 38 votes while Calvin Cobb polled 40. One write in vote each was counted for Ed Magre and Jack Tumlison.

Two new trustees were elected Saturday in the contested Buckholts School board election.

Elected were Richard C. Crowe, 74 votes; and Gladys Allison, 59. Stanley J. Glaser missed a bid for a seat on the board with 52 votes.

Incumbents Alvin Fuchs and Doyal Arnold did not seek election after serving on the board for 12 years. A total of 101 votes was cast, Supt. Leon Brady said.

Both incumbents, running unopposed to two positions on the Rosebud-Lott school board, were returned to office Saturday.

Local, Area Churches Plan Special Services For Easter Weekend

Special services for Good Friday and Easter Sunday have been announced by local churches and the Buckholts Evangelical Brethren Church.

In Cameron, the Cameron Ministers' Association is sponsoring a united Good Friday service at 1 p.m. Friday at the First Assembly of God Church, 1511 North Houston.

The Rev. Bruce Wadzek of the Church of Christ will bring the message and the Rev. Donald Exley of the First Assembly of God Church will be the liturgist.

A large number of local worshippers are expected at the service. The offering received at the united service is used to help needy travelers as they come through Cameron and stop at churches and parsonages to ask help.

Father John Geiser announces services for the Easter season at St. Monica's Catholic Church including a Holy Thursday Mass sung by the choir Thursday night at 7:30 under the direction of Don Czapinski with Ladis Marek Jr. as organist. Children will receive their first Holy Communion at the service.

Good Friday service will be held from 2 to 3 p.m. Friday. The Easter Vigil service will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Saturday. The choir will sing at all three special services. On Sunday, regular masses will be held.

A special worship service will be held at the Evangelical Brethren Church of Buckholts on Friday at 7:30 p.m. The pastor, Frank A. Simcik, will bring a special sermon for Good Friday and the boys and girls choir will provide special music.

An Easter Sunrise service will be held at the church Sunday at 7 a.m. The youngsters choir will again bring special music. The service will be followed by a breakfast to be held at the church and this will be followed by Sunday School for all ages.

The public is invited to attend any or all of these special services during the Easter season.

Henderson also said he thought students who won honors in the science fair should receive some kind of recognition.

Like Sea Without Salt Water...

Just a lot of Central Texans couldn't care less about the financial crisis of Dallas Symphony Orchestra, among 27 major symphonies stretched to the breaking point by costs.

Host to the Dallas Symphony twice and planning a third March concert, Cameron through grants had raised more than $5,000 for the symphony's return. But that figure covered only five-eighths of the one-day cost, two concerts, $8,000 plus local expenses.

Two years ago, the $5,000 would have paid, did pay for three concerts, two student and one evening performance, plus local expenses. A year ago it paid for two concerts.

And that tells the national symphony story: a 60 percent increase in two years.

The DSO would have liked to make that trip, to offset a bit of its own $800,000 deficit. Dallas is trying to raise $200,000 to get a suspended season going again. The DSO likely will finish the year. But not in the black.

Nor should it. Business contributors like to see an orchestra in the black as if it were an investment, which it is. But it is an investment in art.

The rewards are beyond cash value, which many contributors appreciate, but not when musicians scale and travel expenses inflate like everything else.

Here, community leaders saw how the DSO's annual visits added a dimension to a vastly changed Cameron that few other small cities could boast, not only in Texas, but in the nation. This kind of attraction encourages productive, able people to locate, invest and live here.

As does the Dallas Symphony, which for the time is in limbo. And Dallas needs this symphony, expensive as it is. And so does Buffalo, N. Y., New York (the Philharmonic), Boston, San Francisco, among others whose orchestras are in trouble. Some make it above red ink, but usually because of exceptional men at the baton.

Culture is difficult to explain, but it is something most communities and active people aspire to. Cameron has hosted and will continue to host the DSO or similar function.

But cultural centers themselves must find the gusto and leadership to resolve this problem. A major city without a symphony is like the sea without salt water.

He Hit It!

He hit No. 715 Monday night.

Hank Aaron smashed his record four-bagger during his second time at bat. Babe Ruth's career homerun record had stood for about 40 years.

If alive, Ruth probably would have cheered for the amiable Atlanta Brave slugger, who tied the historic Ruth's 714 homeruns his first time at bat in the new season.

They came to see a new record. And he hit it.

JANE FONDA'S 'GALL' SHOCKS CONGRESS

Rep. W. L. Dickinson (Ala.) "... According to press reports, Jane Fonda and her husband recently held anti-American seminars entitled 'American Imperialism.' Approximately 60 staffers from Capitol Hill attended them, and they lasted for 3 weeks..."

"First of all, Congress is held in low enough esteem at best and when my constituents, and I am sure the American public read that Jane Fonda is operating out of an office in the Capital they get the impression that we, in Congress condone her acts and it gives her a respectability that she does not deserve. We must make it amply clear that the Congress and an overwhelming majority of the Members disapprove of her and her anti-American activities..."

Rep. R. L. F. Sikes (Fla.) "... The good people that I represent were appalled by the spectacle of Jane Fonda and her group of anti-American radicals using a committee room of the Congress to conduct a so-called seminar against American Imperialism..."

Rep. J. G. Martin (N. C.) "... Along with other Members of Congress, I attended luncheon yesterday with eight American servicemen who were held prisoners of war in North Vietnam for a combined total of 55 years. They reported that the most devastating weapon used against them was not the physical or psychological mistreatment, but it was the recordings of anti-American statements by Americans visiting in North Vietnam. They cited particularly filmed statements by Mrs. Fonda, telling Hanoi, 'I come to you as your comrade...'"

Delegates Go Home For Discussions, Campaigns

Delegates to the 1974 Constitutional Convention have taken a break in their efforts to rewrite Texas' 1876-model Constitution.

The 181 delegates (Texas House and Senate members) are to spend the next 30 days back home discussing with their constituents the work accomplished thus far on the constitutional rewrite.

Decision to take the recess until May 6 was triggered partially by the desire of some delegates to return to their home districts to concentrate on re-election efforts, stymied for the most part for the last three months by their need to meet a five-day-a-week convention schedule in Austin.

Other convention delegates and convention leadership feel the 30-day break will provide opportunity for them to seek citizen comment on the work of the convention so far.

Many convention delegates have complained that the work schedule has been so strenuous they have had little opportunity to touch base with the folks back home.

When they return to Austin in May, delegates will go to work on new Constitutional articles dealing with the Judiciary, General Provisions and Separation.

The recess will also provide Style and Drafting Committee staff members opportunity to review articles which have gained tentative approval to insure that no error has crept into the document during the heat of debate on the convention floor.

Convention leadership is now talking about submitting the final document to voters at the November, 1974, general election.

DIVIDEND PAYMENT Allstate Insurance Company has been ordered to pay Texas auto policyholders $4 million in cancelled dividends.

Allstate attorneys said they "completely disagree" and will appeal Insurance Commissioner Don Odom's order, hoping it will not discourage other companies from "making lower rates available to customers under new law."

Odom said Allstate's Texas certificate will be cancelled in Texas if dividends aren't being paid in 30 days.

Allstate stopped paying dividends on policies expiring October 3, the same day it obtained the State Insurance Board's permission to reduce rates for auto coverage.

DEMO CONVENTION FIGHT HEATS - Democratic liberals and conservatives are squaring off for another clash at precinct conventions May 4.

Houston liberal leader Billie Carr claimed Gov. Dolph Briscoe's supporters are trying to take over the Texas Democratic party rather than encouraging wider participation by all elements.

Activities of the Governor's Conventions Committee, headed by Gordon Wynne of Wills Point, is siphoning off money needed for an official Affirmative Action Program to bring in more new convention goers, charged Mrs. Carr.

She said liberals will have petitions at conventions endorsing a permanent national Democratic party charter guaranteeing full participation by all elements.

APPOINTMENTS - William Gregg Paul of Rusk and Dr. William Ben Buckaby of Wichita Falls were appointed by Governor Briscoe as members of the Midwestern University board of regents. Carter McGregor Jr. was reappointed to the Board.

Briscoe named L. D. Brinkman of Mountain Home, Tony Kunitz of Sinton and L.H. True of Wimberley to the Texas Conservation Foundation.

Leroy Beck Jr., formerly of San Antonio, is a new legal aide in the Secretary of State's Election Division.

Briscoe appointed five to the Board of Directors of the Lavaca County Flood Control District No. 3 Paul A. Najvar, Robert Joseph Pesek, Leon Louis Kahaneck Jr. and Alfred Neumeier Jr., all of Halletts-ville, were reappointed for two-year terms, and Julius Bueck of Hallettsville was appointed for a two-year term.

The Governor named S.B. Allen of Edna, Edwin H. Duenow of Lolita and A.H. Stafford of Edna to the Board of Directors of the Lavaca-Navidad River Authority.

House Speaker Price Daniel Jr. appointed a special interim committee to study the reorganization and modernization of state agencies which administer public education. Rep. R. B. McAlister of Lubbock will serve as chairman.

Larry Crumpton of Austin has been named Deputy Director of the Texas Department of Community Affairs.

Briscoe has selected Miss Diane Booker as acting director of the Texas Film Commission.

OFFICIAL OPINIONS - Prisoners in county jails must be permitted to vote, Atty. Gen. John Hill concluded in a recent opinion. Hill's interpretation which held a portion of the Texas Election Code unconstitutional does not apply to convicted felons since they would not be qualified to vote anyway.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear Editor:

Since nobody else is giving any thought to it I figured I might as well. According to a news item a while back the government in a moment of panic rushed out and had 12 million dollars worth of gas rationing coupons printed up, just in case rationing became necessary. You're not going to catch Washington napping once it wakes up after sleeping through the arrival of the energy shortage.

Well, as you know, when the Arabs realized our money stopped flowing in when their oil stopped flowing out and a sheik can't buy a new tent with un-sold oil, they lifted the embargo and all those rationing coupons are now stacked up in a warehouse in Washington and gathering dust.

And some people are saying, well, that's 12 million down the drain, but it doesn't have to be so. I have given the entire matter some thought and there is a use for those coupons.

Look, every time you pick up a newspaper these days you read that somebody else high or low in government has been indicted for perjury. General this ruins their career, since it is one thing to lie in private practice but another to lie to a grand jury.

Now lying to a grand jury while it may have had its moral leadership planted in Washington, is not limited to the capital and officials all around the country are being indicted by grand juries who don't seem to realize the jails are over-crowded as it is.

So the idea hit me, why not utilize those gas rationing coupons? Why not issue one book a month to every office holder in the nation, with each coupon good for one lie? Tell a lie, get caught, tear out a coupon, hand it to the grand jurors, and their hands are tied.

You reckon those 12 million dollars worth of coupons are enough to go around?

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

The Family Lawyer

Free Press In High School

Two high school seniors wrote and mimeographed an "underground newspaper," then distributed copies to students just outside the school grounds. The principal, incensed, suspended them from their classes. The two students, equally incensed, took the matter to court.

At the hearing, the principal pointed to a rule of the Board of Education forbidding students to hand out any printed material without his approval.

But the court decided that the Board's rule was a violation of freedom of the press. Ordering the students reinstated, the court said such a rule could even prevent one student from handing another student a bible.

"The purpose of education," observed the court, "is to spread, not to stifle, ideas and views." This version of student rights is now followed by most courts. In particular, they look with tolerance on political, social, and economic criticism. As one judge commented, in upholding the placing of an anti-war advertisement in a high school newspaper:

"Free speech is not confined to classroom discussion."

On the other hand, the law recognizes that some limits may be justified by the necessities of orderly education. "Time and place" rules for distributing literature are generally held to be within the school's authority. Extreme vulgarity, too, has been condemned.

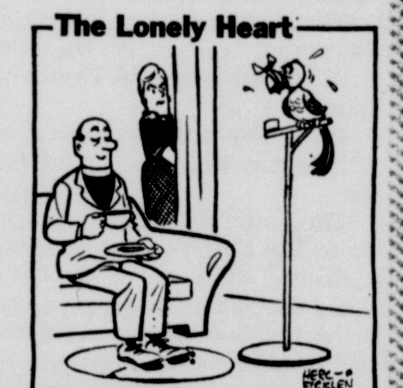

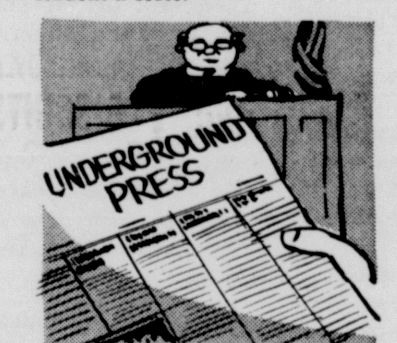

Furthermore, courts usually allow a tighter rein on high school students than on college students. In one case, a court upheld disciplinary action against a high school student because of a scurrilous leaflet denouncing the principal. The court said:

"Activities of high school students do not always fall within the same category as the conduct of college students, the former being in a much more adolescent and immature stage of life and less able to screen fact from propaganda."

"The line of reason must be drawn somewhere."

MENTAL HEALTH MATTERS

Bertram S. Brown, M.D., Director
National Institute of Mental Health

Helping Children

"The child is father of the man"—this old saying offers both warning and hope. It warns us that a child's early environment and personal relationships may nourish the roots of mental illness in his later years. But it offers hope and promise because we have the knowledge and resources to help our children grow into mentally healthy and productive adults.

It is conservatively estimated that 2 to 3 percent of the Nation's children are psychotic or severely disturbed and in need of expert treatment, with an additional 8 to 10 percent needing some kind of help from persons trained in mental health.

These percentages translate into about 4½ million youngsters who need help of a psychiatric nature—which is many times the number now receiving any treatment at all for their mental or emotional problems.

Dr. Norbert I. Rieger, former director of the Children's Treatment Center, Camarillo State Hospital at Camarillo, California, is a dedicated psychiatrist now striving to help salvage disturbed children through the training of a new professional—the child mental health specialist.

"It takes special people," Dr. Rieger says, "to learn how to be a combination of father, mother, nurse, teacher, therapist, and model in helping disturbed children to grow up into happy and productive adults."

The National Institute of Mental Health—a component of the Alcohol, Drug Abuse, and Mental Health Administration of the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare—is supporting a pilot program of training for the child mental health specialist. Dr. Rieger is director of the program.

The new specialists are being trained in California colleges for AA, BA, and MA degrees. Included for all will be heavy clinical experience at Camarillo State Hospital in working with emotionally disturbed children from birth to age 18.

Graduates will be qualified to work, with varying degrees of responsibility depending on their level of training, in day treatment centers, therapeutic nursery schools, head start schools, and day care centers.

They will also be able to teach in special classes for emotionally handicapped and mentally retarded children and to function in residential treatment centers in the community and in children's units in State hospitals.

We now have in this country a situation in which a yawning gap exists between the services provided by a few highly trained, clinically skilled child psychiatrists and services by untrained or poorly trained aides who are the principal contacts with the great majority of our disturbed or mentally ill children.

The California project, designed to serve as a model for similar training in other areas of the Nation, can go a long way toward correcting this unfortunate situation.

COUNTY AGENT'S NOTES

Budding Pecans, Tomato Cages

By Bill McCutchen

Bark is slipping on pecan trees now and that means budding and grafting time is here again.

Two propagation methods are commonly used on pecans. Patch budding is commonly used on seedling trees while the inlay graft is used on larger ones.

If you are considering budding or grafting a yard tree or trees in the creek bottom you should give a lot of consideration to variety selection.

We have a good selection of pecans that can cope with Milam County conditions. The Desirable has been a good producer here for a long time and would still probably head the list. Choctas, Caddo, and Sloux would also be good selections.

Tomatoes In Wire Cages

I have been asked many times about the article printed last year about growing tomatoes in wire cages, so I have decided on a re-run. Gardeners can produce a better crop of tomatoes by using wire cages. A five-by-five foot section of six-inch mesh concrete reinforcing wire makes an excellent cage about 19 inches in diameter when bent into a cylinder and the ends are bent together. By snipping off the bottom rung, the cage can be pushed into the ground about six inches deep.

Push the cage over each plant. No pruning or training is necessary. The plant grows up through the cage with some of the leaves and stems coming through the six-inch squares of wire mesh, supporting the plant in an upright position. Cages allow plants to develop naturally, providing adequate shade for ripening fruit. Sunscald and fruit cracking are minimal with caged plants when soil moisture is maintained at an adequate level and foliage diseases are controlled.

Plastic, paper, aluminum foil or heavy organic mulch on the soil in the cage will control weeds and reduce moisture loss. However, organic mulch should be used only after the soil has become warm, as it can slow plant growth if used during cool spring weather.

Six caged plants of the large fruited tomato varieties should provide plenty of tomatoes for a family of four or five during the normal harvest period. Some growers have obtained over 50 pounds of fruit per plant in cages.

A good method of watering tomato plants, either with or without cages is in gallon cans placed in the ground with only about one-inch of the sides above ground. Cut off the top of each can and perforate the bottom before placing it in the ground. Use two cans per plant or 14 cans for six plants. With tomato plants set two feet apart, place two cans about 16 inches apart between plants, starting with two cans on either end of the row.

After plants start to fruit, place on to two level teaspoons of complete fertilizer in each can once a week. Fill the cans with water two or three times a week as needed.

Consumers Benefit From Screwworm Program

MISSION

American consumers saved over $1 billion last year by having more marketable beef available as a result of one livestock pest eradication program.

"For each tax dollar expended on the screwworm eradication program, consumers were granted a savings of more than $113," Dr. M. E. "Cotton" Meadows, Jr., director of the U. S. Department of Agriculture program, said.

"Another way to look at the total consumer benefit of the $1 billion savings is that it meant $4.81 per person for 209,448,200 Americans," he added.

Meadows, who is with the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service branch of USDA, said a special Task Force of agricultural economists from the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, and livestock industry leaders prepared the cost-benefit information about the program.

Task Force members included Tom Prater, economist - management and Dr. Ed. Uvacek and Ernest E. Davis, livestock marketing specialists, all with the Extension Service, College Station.

Consumers will continue to benefit with more red meat available at lower prices as the program continues, Meadows added. "The eradication program would be a bargain at even double its cost," he said.

Screwworm fly migrations occur each spring in the southwestern United States, as the livestock parasite moves northward from wintering areas in Mexico. A joint U. S. - Mexico program agreement has been signed, and efforts are underway to build a more effective barrier zone of eradication deeper into Mexico to further protect U. S. livestock and wildlife.

There is a definite need for continued and enlarged funding of the past eradication project, livestock industry and USDA officials emphasize.

Cooperating in the research have been other TAES scientists and officials of the Texas Cattle Feeders Association.

Reddell has conducted his research from the standpoints of both utilization and disposal.

He is highly enthused about its potential as a soil conditioner and fertilizer, and emphasized that area agricultural producers who have studied the research results are presently utilizing it as a fertilizer source.

Even before commercial fertilizer supplies became critically short, some producers had studied the research results and began using beef feedlot manure as a fertilizer. They found that manure nitrogen was more economical than commercial fertilizer sources, and that potash, phosphorus, and other elements were among "fringe benefits."

Cotton In West, Sorghum In East... Turkey Income Hits New High... Texas Farm Worker Numbers Decline... Cattle Placements Nose Dive.

Most major crops in Texas will see an increase in acres this year. Only oats, soybeans, and peanut acreages are expected to be under 1973 levels, the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service notes.

Cotton acres in Texas will be up 500,000 acres this year from last year. Grain sorghum acres in the state will be up 100,000 acres this year. Wheat acreage is up 1,000,000 acres this year compared to 1973.

Some interesting figures are revealed in the location of those extra cotton and grain sorghum acres. Of the 500,000 acre cotton increase in Texas this year, only 13,000 acres will be planted in the eastern part of the state. The remainder--487,000 acres--will be planted in the western half including the High Plains.

Grain sorghum acres this year will decrease in the western part of the state from last year. In 1973, a total of 4,542,000 acres of sorghum was planted in the western part of the state. This year, there will be 212,000 fewer acres of grain sorghum in that part of Texas.

For the eastern part of the state--from the Blacklands on east--sorghum acres are expected to total 3,880,000. This is an increase of 322,000 acres from the 1973 plantings in the eastern section of Texas.

Wheat acres will be up 1,000,000 from 1973 throughout the state, yet the crop will be about half that of 1973 because of the drought in west Texas and the Amarillo area. All sections of Texas report increases in wheat acres this year compared to 1973.

Soybean acreage in Texas is down 50,000 acres compared to 1973; oat acreage is down 200,000 acres from last year; peanut acres this year will be 5,000 acres fewer than in 1973.

TURKEY income in Texas for 1973 grossed a record $70,500,000. Texas now ranks fifth in the number of turkeys raised and is in fourth place in gross income. Production in 1973 totaled 8,900,000 birds; this is 13 per cent higher than last year. The average price of turkeys in 1973 was 39.7 cents per pound; the total gross and price per pound is about double a year earlier.

PLACEMENTS in feedlots in Texas and the major states are down sharply. In Texas, placements are 23 per cent below February and 49 per cent below the previous month. Nationwide, placements in seven major feeding states--Texas, Arizona, California, Colorado, Iowa, Nebraska, and Kansas--are down 48 per cent from the preceding month and 20 per cent below a year ago.

Texas continues to be the number one cattle feeding state in the nation with 2,318,000 head of cattle and calves on feed for slaughter as of March 1. This is one per cent below a month ago, but is six per cent above a year ago.

TOTAL number of farm workers has declined from an annual average of 423,000 in 1960 to an average of 264,000 in 1973. This is a reduction of 38 per cent.

During the same period (1960 to 1973), family labor declined from 258,000 to 184,000; this is a reduction of 29 per cent.

Hired labor has dropped from 165,000 in 1960 to 80,000 in 1973, a decline of 52 per cent.

A decrease of 15 per cent in the number of Texas farms is also noted during the period 1960 to 1973.

The number of Texas farms now totals 209,000. While the number of farms was decreasing, the size of the average farm continues to rise.

In 1960 the average size farm in Texas was 619 acres. In 1974, the average size is 678 acres, an increase of 10 per cent.

TEXAS' PIG crop for December to March totaled 338,000 head which was 10 per cent below the pig crop for the same time last year, an apparent trend in the hog population. The Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service estimated that there were 970,000 head of hog and pigs on Texas farms March 1, 1974. That is eight per cent fewer than were estimated a year earlier. And it is estimated that hog producers intend to farrow 47,000 sows from March to May and 50,000 from June to August, decreases of two and 11 per cent for the same periods last year.

EGG-TYPE CHICKS, broiler and turkey poult production, on the other hand, showed increases, but egg production in February was down from the same time a year ago. 1,731,000 egg-type chicks were hatched in the State in February, a 14 per cent increase from a year ago and a 12 per cent increase over January. The 14,680,000 broiler chicks hatched in February were six per cent above February, 1973 and seven per cent above January. Texas' turkey poult hatched in February totaled 1,025,000, a 14 per cent increase over a year ago and a 15 per cent increase over the previous month. In addition, slaughter of chickens in January was six per cent for the same month last year and slaughter of turkeys for the same month increased 38 per cent over the same month in 1973. February, 1974 egg production totaled 182 million, a decrease of one per cent from a year ago and seven per cent below January, 1974. The number of layer hens on hand was about the same as last year but two per cent more than for January.

IN THE 21 leading broiler producing states--of which Texas is one--there were 63,690,000 chicks placed during the week ending March 23, an increase of three per cent over the same week last year; and eggs placed in incubators totaled 77,332,000, a one per cent decline from a year ago.

THE PREDATOR CONTROL program involving use of the M-44 sodium cyanide capsules on an experimental basis in 44 counties of Central and West Texas is beginning again. A training program in the use of the M-44 device was scheduled several weeks ago, but a court restraining order caused the Texas Department of Agriculture to cancel the classes. The restraining order was lifted March 29, and new training classes in the 44-county area are being rescheduled, and will be announced soon.

Some Vehicles Exempted From Inspection Law

Colonel Wilson E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, today said in response to numerous inquiries that farm trailers and other small trailers of less than 4,000 pounds gross weight are among certain types of vehicles exempted from the State's Motor Vehicle Inspection Law.

Others which do not have to be inspected include those with the following types of license plates: Paper Dealer In-Transit, used by dealers to convey vehicles; Parade License; Factory Delivery License; In-Transit License; Machinery License; Disaster License; Permit License; and Antique License. Also exempted from inspections are vehicles moved with Prorate Tabs; One-Trip Permits; and 72-hour Temporary Commercial Permits.

All other motor vehicles registered in Texas including passenger cars, trucks, motorcycles, motor-driven cycles, and trailers weighing over 4,000 pounds must be inspected at a State licensed inspection station at least once annually.

Speir noted that a new procedure is being used in the issuance of inspection certificates for motorcycles. Under provisions of a State law which became effective January 1, the certificates are being mounted on a piece of adhesive acetate which is attached to the rear of the cycle near the license plate.

The DPS director said many motorcyclists are purchasing transparent tubes or metal holders from motorcycle dealers, which can be fastened to the license plate. If the cycle is so equipped, the inspection certificate is placed in the tube or holder.

Motorcycles inspected prior to January 1 do not need to display an inspection sticker, Speir said, but it must be carried by the operator and made available to police officers on request. He pointed out, however, that all motorcycles would be required to display a rear mounted sticker by January 1, 1973, or when the current inspection sticker expires, whichever date comes first.

Texas operates on a year-round inspection program, with certificates expiring 12 months from the month in which the inspection was conducted. The DPS licenses and supervises the privately owned garages and stations which perform inspections.

The inspection procedure for passenger cars includes horn, windshield wipers, mirror, steering, front seat belts, brakes, tires, wheels and rims, exhaust system, exhaust emission system, beam indicator, tail lamps, stop lamps, license plate lamps, rear red reflectors (built into most tail light units), turn signal lamps on 1960 or later models, head lamps, and vehicle identification number.

The inspection fee as set by Texas law is $2, with any required adjustments or repairs extra. Speir noted that a motorist is not required to have adjustments or repairs made by the mechanic-inspector, and may have the work done elsewhere and then return a vehicle which fails the inspection to the same station for re-inspection of the failed items within seven days.

He said inspection certificates being issued during 1974 are green in color. A number showing the month of inspection is displayed on the front of the certificate which, on passenger cars and trucks, is mounted in the lower left-hand corner of the windshield.

Bunny Shaped Cookies Add To Easter Joy

By Chris Holcombe
Co. Extension Agent

Where a mother is concerned, a bit of frivolity pays big dividends in delight. You could bake plain cookies for the children (certainly they'd taste every bit as good) but when the cookie dough is shaped into bunny ears, heads and bodies - well, the eyes feast first. Thus these pert bunny cookies are delicious Easter greetings.

They're yet another delectable variation of an old fashioned favorite, oatmeal cookies-shaped ones, of course. Quick or old fashioned oats may be used in this recipe - either one adds that toasty goodness and inimitable texture so prized by cookie bakers for generations. One child might like to shape the dough into bite-size balls, the heads and bodies; another might be the "ears expert." Still another, an older one perhaps, might be entrusted with the assembly. (Thick confectioners sugar icing holds the parts together.) Add a thin frosting "coat" last of all the better to hold on those raisin eyes and marshmallow tails.

EASTER BUNNY COOKIES
(Makes 12 Easter Bunnies)

1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup shortening, soft

1/2 cup sifted confectioners sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup quick or old-fashioned oats, uncooked

Beat butter and shortening together until creamy. Gradually beat in sugar. Blend in vanilla. Sift together flour, salt and cinnamon. Add to creamed mixture; mix well. Stir in oats.

Shape dough into balls, making 12 bases about 1-1/2 inches in diameter and 12 heads 1 inch in diameter. Shape remaining dough to form 24 ears one inch long and tapered at one end. Place on ungreased cookie sheets. Bake in preheated slow oven (325) degrees 15 minutes for ears, 20 to 25 minutes for heads and 25 to 30 minutes for bases. Cool.

Using thick confectioners sugar frosting, fasten base, head and ears together to make each bunny. After frosting has set, frost each bunny with thinner frosting. Decorate using raisins for eyes and small marshmallows for tails.

SSI Program Speeds Payments To Disabled

In answer to questions about how Supplemental Security Income payments can be made quickly to aged, blind, or disabled people in special need, Pete Wall, Social Security District Manager in Temple, today outlined several methods which are being used to speed the payments.

"We are trying to get all these records into an automated system which should eventually make the check delivery simple and dependable," he pointed out.

"Right now, though, many people are making their initial applications for these payments, and we are still having trouble getting some of the information we received from the Department of Public Welfare properly entered into the automated system."

When an aged, blind or

Young Men May Register By Mail

Col. Melvin N. Glantz, the state director of Selective Service for Texas, has announced the use of "registration by mail" in Texas.

The law still requires each young man to register within 30 days before or after his 18th birthday. Failure to register makes the youth liable for an extreme penalty of five years in prison and $10,000 fine.

To register by mail, the young man can simply write to his nearest Selective Service System Area Office requesting the new form for registration by mail. The nearest Selective Service office is located at 1009 First National Bank Bldg. in Temple.

Young men may register personally appearing before the following Selective Service registrars in this area:

Mrs. Virginia Bethard, office of the County Judge; Roy L. Allen, Rockdale; James R. Cantrell, National Guard Armory, Cameron; Norman Clement, Thorndale State Bank, Thorndale; Henry J. Litzman, postoffice at Cameron; Floyd W. Stark, Buckholts and John D. Yoakum, Milano.

disabled person who had not been receiving public assistance payments makes his application for payments Wall said, the decision on his eligibility should ordinarily be made within a week or two and his first check, if he is eligible, delivered within three weeks.

"But some people are clearly eligible and already in dire need when they first apply," Wall said.

"If their first month's payment is for $100 or less we can deliver payment on the spot. If the first month's Federal payment is for more than $100, we can pay $100."

He stressed that the law permits this kind of advanced payment only once, at the time of the initial application, and then only if the applicant is both eligible and in dire need.

Wall described another kind of immediate payment as "not as advance, but partial payment of an amount due."

This payment also can be up to $100 for an individual. It can be given only to those who should have received a Federal check but who did not get one because of some problem resulting from the exchange of date between the State and the Federal Government, or conflicting records. These checks also can be delivered on the spot.

If the amount due is more than $100, or if a check was issued for an amount less than the recipient is entitled to, the social security office cannot deliver an immediate check. Instead, as soon as SSA has verified that a check was issued, it will ask the Treasury Department to speed delivery of a new check. Under special procedures the Treasury expects to be able to prepare the new check within a day or two. Thus, in most cases, the check should be in the mail to the recipient or in the social security office to be picked up within three or four days, or even sooner in areas near the Treasury disbursing offices.

If the Treasury Department issued a check but the check was not delivered, or if the check was lost or stolen, a new check in the same amount will be mailed as soon as possible.

"In these cases, SSA and the Treasury Department must first find out whether the missing check has already been cashed," he explained. "The regular SSI checks are a distinctive gold color, and this helps to speed the verification."

Crime Rate Goes Up In Texas

AUSTIN
Colonel Wilson E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, announced today that the Texas crime rate last year rose by 3.1%.

Speir said 492,654 major criminal offenses were committed during 1973 for a rate per 100,000 population of 4,177.2. In 1972, there were 472,011 major offenses for a rate of 4,051.9.

In urban areas of Texas there were an estimated 449,097 major offenses as compared to 422,677 a year before. The urban crime rate rose by 4.9%, but in rural sections of the state, the crime rate was down 12.7% from the figure noted in 1972. Rural offenses totaled 43,557 contrasted to 49,334 the previous year.

The largest increase in crime was in the robbery category, up 17.1% over 1972. Murders and homicides were down by 2.1%. In other types of criminal activity, these rate increases were noted by the DPS: rape, 1.5%; burglary, 2.8%; aggravated assault, 1.1%; theft, 2.9%; and auto theft, 2.4%.

Speir said that if the major crimes in Texas during 1973 had been evenly distributed as to frequency, there would have been one such offense every minute of every day.

The Department of Public Safety's 1973 crime report, in analysis of offenses by population density, noted that the crime rate rose faster, generally, in cities of less than 100,000 population than in the largest metropolitan centers.

VA Accepts Marriage Certificate

Obituaries

The Veterans Administration advises veterans not to allow loss of a birth certificate or marriage license to deter from applying for benefits.

Jack Coker, Waco Regional Office Director, cited a regulation in effect since October 1971 under which less formal proof of marriage and birth are acceptable in establishing claims for higher benefits.

A veteran's or widow's certified statement of marriage is sufficient on applications for compensation and education benefits for veterans, widows, and orphaned children, provided neither he nor his wife has been married before, and VA has no contradictory information on file, Coker explained.

Coker noted that a certified statement now is acceptable regarding birth of a child or a veteran's marriage, and as proof of age and relationship in disability cases. Before the regulations change, Coker pointed out, VA required all statements of marriage and births to be supported by formalized documentary evidence. Certified statements also are sufficient in death cases where a claimant's statements corroborate those of a veteran in connection with a claim for any VA benefit, Coker added.

White Raps Egg Substitute

COLLEGE STATION Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said here Wednesday a nationally distributed product, "Egg Beaters," is a "flagrant violator of common sense whose network TV ads are misleading and border on being fraudulent."

He said the Fleischmann company is using "scare tactics" to sell the product as an egg substitute.

"Food prices are high enough without traumatizing an egg into a product which doubles its cost without improving its usefulness. In addition, the manufacturer is making unproven health claims which should be investigated by the Federal Trade Commission," White said. The commissioner was luncheon speaker for about 200 persons attending the 19th annual Texas Commercial Egg Clinic. The Texas Egg Council, Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station sponsored the clinic.

White said the egg substitute is made primarily from artificially colored egg whites and corn oil. The ads imply freshness and health benefits, but there is no proof of the condition of the original egg parts from which the substitute is made. "Among other misleading tactics, the product label and TV ads claim that the egg substitute is cholesterol-free, implying a safeguard against heart attacks. The advertising does not tell us that the product is 10 times higher in sodium than real eggs, nor that it fails to offer the real nutrition of eggs. It is nearly twice as expensive as eggs," the speaker pointed out.

He said the substitute is no bargain for the consumer.

"The housewife would be ahead on her budget if she bought a dozen fresh eggs, added a little food coloring and cooking oil to the egg whites and then threw the yoke away," the commissioner said.

White added that the company "should either be forced to tell the whole truth about its product or it should be removed from the market place."

Consumer Market Report

Although beef prices may drop a few pennies, consumers this week shouldn't count on "any startling changes in meat prices," one observer predicted.

Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said best beef values will appear on round steaks and roasts, arm and blade pot roasts and steaks, ground beef and liver.

"Most stores will feature a number of chuck cuts and some T-bone steaks. "Pork values generally will be shoulder roasts and steaks, end-cut loin roasts and chops, smoked ham portions and picnics, Boston butt roasts, and quarter loin cut into chops."

Egg prices are down slightly, with large-size eggs offering the best economy, the specialist said. "At fruit counters, oranges and grapefruit offer good quality at reasonable prices, and bananas are a good value. Apples, strawberries and pineapples are other choices."

Mrs. Clyatt listed cabbage, carrots, celery, bulk turnips and rutabagas as fresh vegetable items in good supply.

Also acorn squash, mustard, collards, turnips and greens.

Sometimes chicken parts make as good a buy as the whole bird, but usually they don't.

When the whole bird is 45 cents a pound, parts are an "equal" buy, if breast halves with ribs are 50 cents a pound, breast halves without ribs are 61 cents a pound, drumsticks are 46 cents a pound, thighs are 50 cents a pound, wings are 36 cents a pound, and drumsticks with thighs are 48 cents a pound.

The extra costs of convenience is reflected on parts with higher per-pound prices than those listed above.

Sports-Murray-Go-Round

By Tom Murray

Bob Osius, the veteran and talented Beaumont Enterprise Sports Editor, writes with a keen sensitivity. He not only knows what goes on in sports but has an uncanny proclivity for explaining why.

Last week Osius did an interesting column on the fall of UCLA's Bruin Basketball juggernaut on its way to an incredible EIGHTH straight college basketball title.

Bob was discussing an almost universal joy that swept the country when North Carolina State knocked off John Wooden's Uclans in the NCAA Semifinals: "Winning may be the name of the game", Osius wrote, "but it isn't the recipe for popularity."

That "Amen, amen!" coming out of Austin you recognize as the Darrell K. Royal baritone. The John Wooden of SWC Football, Royal has artfully coached his University of Texas Longhorns to six straight Southwest Conference Championships, alienating more and more NonIUT's with each methodical success.

Texas is Number One on the SWC Enemy List. Lanny Van Eman, the deposed Arkansas basketball coach once told writers, "Happiness is beating the University of Texas." Some folks did not even pretend to veil their joy when Royal recently lost All-America Fullback Roosevelt Leaks with a knee injury.

With that in mind, Darrell could appreciate Bob Osius writing: "UCLA harvested victories in such great numbers and with such consistency, everyone, save UCLA students and alumni rooted for the opposition. It wasn't the classic example of Americans pulling for the underdog. They simply didn't like UCLA because the Bruins invariably won."

"Win is the name of the game," Osius continued. "Just don't win too often. People are funny, aren't they?"

Amen. QUICKIES

As George Foreman sat on his stool, before knocking out Ken Norton to defend the Heavyweight title, Joe Louis whispered, "Remember, you're the Champ. Be cool." Frank Broyles sez he brought in a new basketball coach to restore Arkansas to the Bigtime on the Hardwood. Frank said the same thing in 1970 when he hired Lanny Van Eman, the guy who just quit in frustration. Speaking of Arkansas, the Ozark School settled for 16 Blacks in the last football recruiting chase. One former Rice star, and a prominent Houston businessman, says he is fond of Owl Boss Al Conover, but still questions the merits of recruiting football players on a nation-wide basis.

Yoe Downs Gatesville 7-4

Cameron's baseball game with Gatesville Tuesday resulted in a win for Yoe High by a score of 7-4.

Gatesville made all four of its runs in the first inning. They got five hits in the first inning and one in each of the last three innings, making a total of 4 runs 8 hits and 4 errors for Gatesville.

Cameron got its first run in the third inning and made 3 hits. There were 2 runs and 2 hits in the fourth. In the fifth Jeff Smitherman got a homerun over the left field fence to bring in the winning run. In the sixth inning Cameron got only one hit and no runs. The last inning gave George Whiteside a double and batted in two runs to make the final score 7-4.

Cameron's John Barron pitched the whole game with 5 strikeouts and 2 walks. Fleetwood pitched for Gatesville until Smitherman brought home his homerun and then Blanchard pitched until the end of the game.

Top hitters for Cameron were Smitherman, who was 3 for 3, Barron who singled twice, and Whiteside who got a double and two RBI's in the seventh inning.

Franklin 4th Golf Tourney Set

Officials of the Oak Grove Country Club at Franklin have asked that all golf and sports editors list April 27-28, 1974, as the official dates for the clubs 4th annual Blind Bogey Tournament. The event is expected to attract over 200 Central Texas golfers and valuable prizes have been selected for winners.

The country club is five miles from Franklin on Farm Road 46. The clubhouse is air-conditioned for year round comfort. The nine hole course is laid out around huge oak trees. Its large greens are comparable to the best in central Texas. The tournament is open to all amateurs and there will be four flights with three winners in each. There will be other prizes for medalist and specialists. Personal carts are permitted on the course and players may choose the day they wish to play. Refreshments are to be available for morning golfers and a barbecue dinner will be served on the grounds or in the clubhouse at noon. Tee off time will be at 7:00 a.m. and 2:00 p.m.

Persons unable to play on April 27 or 28 may play earlier in the week by special permission. For information about the tournament players may call the General Manager, Dr. T. B. Carroll at Bremond, Texas. Telephone number 817-746-3271 or 817-745-2771

ENERGY TALKS

By Warren B. Davis
Director, Energy Economics

"Looking at the energy situation from another perspective, is the United States running out of fuel?"

"No, the United States is not running out of fuel. We have very large undeveloped fuel resources in this country. The largest perhaps is coal with on the order of three trillion tons in place. The second largest is perhaps oil shale with something on the order of two trillion barrels in place. The problem is that we need to develop these very large undeveloped fuel resources of the United States and in order to do this, we need government policies that will foster that development."

Yoe To Compete In Austin Relays

On Thursday and Friday of this week, the Yoe High Varsity Track Team will travel to Austin's Texas Stadium for the Texas Relays.

The events that the track team will participate in are the 440, run by Lo Majors, Robert Miller, George Whiteside, and Willy Bell. Bell will also run the 220. George Whiteside, Willy Bell, Jimmy Patzke, and Lo Majors will run the Mile Relay.

These Yoe track men qualified for the Regional Meet in Corpus Christi on April 19 and 20 by winning either first or second in the District 12-AAA meet held in Belton.

The 440 men ran a 43.8 for first place in that event. Bell got a 22.6 in the 220 yd. dash or second. The Mile Relay team ran a 3:25.8 for second place.

Cameron received a third place rating in the District 12-AAA with 70 points while Belton got first with 111 points and Rockdale got second with 100.

Baylor Regatta Starts April 19

Water sports enthusiasts will have the opportunity to witness and exhibit boating prowess at this year's second annual Baylor Regatta April 19 at Baylor University's marina on the banks of Lake Brazos.

The regatta is staged as a part of Baylor's Bear Downs Weekend, in conjunction with Bear Downs, a 50-mile bicycle race sponsored by Baylor's Student Foundation to raise money for student scholarships. This year's Bear Downs will begin at 2 p.m. April 20 in Waco's Heart O' Texas Coliseum. The Student Foundation originated the regatta during last year's Bear Downs activities to raise more money for student scholarships and to give Baylor women, who can't participate in the bicycle race, more participation in Bear Downs Weekend.

Spectators are welcome to attend the regatta at no charge. Proceeds from the entry fee, required of each participating team will go to the foundation's student scholarship fund.

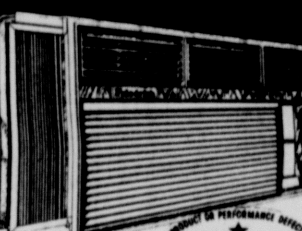

Winners in all other regatta events will receive trophies.

TIPS FOR OUTDOORSMEN

by Vern Sanford

You don't like venison? Trace the events that take place from the crack of the rifle to the time of cooking and you may learn that the fault is not with the deer but with the hunter. So states Gus Albright, news editor for Arkansas Outdoors. He makes these points—and they make sense.

In the first place, accurate shooting provides the best venison. When a wounded animal runs off to die at a distance, his physical exertions send blood flowing fast through his body and into his muscles. This makes the meat tough and coarse.

Secret is to get the meat to the table in good eating condition. Many thousands of pounds are wasted, allowed to ruin, or are so poorly cared for that few people will eat it. And this should not happen.

Proper field dressing is important. Without that, regardless of later care, the cooked meat will not be as it should.

A deer must be bled as soon as it is killed. In most cases an accurate shot will take care of this. But if it doesn't then a knife should be inserted at the base of the neck and the artery cut. Keep the wound open and free of clot.

With the insides removed (not difficult if done in a proper and orderly fashion) prop open the chest cavity and wipe with a clean cloth. Trim away any gunshot damaged flesh and allow to cool.

Flies are often a problem, says Albright, but black pepper applied to exposed flesh will keep them away. A common practice out West is to skin and wrap the deer in clean cheesecloth.

All blood and hair should be washed from the animal before transporting it home. Water won't hurt the meat if allowed to drain off.

Much meat spoilage occurs while moving the carcass from the hunting area to its final destination. Albright warns to never transport the carcass on the hood of your car or even on the fender. This subjects it to undesirable heat and dirt.

Upon reaching home the deer should be hung immediately and the cooling process continued for several days. An ice house or other means of artificial refrigeration may be necessary. If you wish to make it prime—let the venison hang for about three weeks.

Before processing, trim away all fat.

Once these basics are accomplished, you will have plenty of good venison—one of the choices of all meats.

Ham for Easter?

To help you select your ham for Easter, let's review how to buy and store ham. Hams are sold in many forms: whole, halves, slices, steaks, or roasts; bone-in, semi-boneless, and boneless; fresh, fully cooked, and canned.

Fresh hams must be cooked to an internal temperature of 170 before eating. Fully cooked and canned hams are precooked during processing and are ready to serve. However, most people prefer to heat them to an internal temperature of at least 140 F.

Bone-in hams are those with no bones removed, while semi-boneless hams have had all but the round center bone removed, and boneless hams have had all bones removed before processing. All of these are sold whole or halved.

What does butt or shank half mean? A whole, bone-in ham cut into two pieces in the center will result in one half, more rounded and meatier, called the butt half, and the other, slightly pointed, called the shank half. When the center portion of a whole ham is removed for steaks, slices, or roasts, the resulting pieces are called butt portions and shank portions.

Federal regulations require that only hams which weigh the same after curing as before can be labeled "Ham - Dry Cured." Generally, if a ham weighs more, because of water absorbed during the curing process, it must be labeled "Ham - Water Added." If the weight increase is more than 10%, the label will state "Imitation Ham." State regulations vary regarding availability of "Ham - Water Added" and "Imitation Ham."

Treat ham as you would any other meat. It should be stored in the refrigerator. Keep it cool (40 F or lower) or hot (140 F or higher). Cook leftovers quickly and refrigerate. Whole hams should be stored no more than seven days; cured or fresh hams, and cured ham slices, no more than three to five days. Unopened canned hams should be stored no longer than six months for best results. Once opened, however, any canned ham should be refrigerated and used within seven days. Ham can be frozen and stored safely at 0 F or lower for three months.

Whichever type of ham you select for your family's holiday meal, it will have an added excitement if you taste it several times during roasting with one of the following tasty glazes.
